Pulp Mill Smells Cause Court Suit

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fumes from a new pulp mill at Crofton are the subject of a suit in B.C. Supreme Court against B.C. Forest Products.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Campbell of Duncan have started an action for a permanent injunction restraining it from permitting the discharge of offensive smells which they claim have reduced the value of their property.

Oust Bennett Briggs Urges

VERNON (CP)—H. L. Briggs, recently fired as general manager of the B.C. Power Commission, levelled another broadside at the B.C. cabinet in an address to the Vernon Board of Trade last night.

In his first public address since what he termed the "turmoil" broke forth over his four statements to the press, Mr. Briggs urged the people of the province to suggest that Premier Bennett resign and that Social Credit MLAs cross the floor of the house.

"PEOPLE WITH GUTS"

Mr. Briggs asked, "Are there people in this province with guts enough to do things that are needed to be done now?"

Answering the question himself, he said, "I know there are."

He further urged the people of the province to become more interested in political affairs, seeking seats on school boards, municipal councils, in legislature and parliament.

"That is how democracy is maintained," Mr. Briggs said.

He reiterated that he has no political ambitions himself. But he emphasized that he "had a very great deal against certain party leaders."

"I intend to stay around a while to defend my position," Mr. Briggs said, referring to two job offers he had received from Eastern Canada.

Taking a swipe at the B.C. Electric, Mr. Briggs charged that stock market reports can verify that the corporation makes 19 per cent compounded annually, which he contended "isn't half bad."

He emphatically denied a report attributed to the premier that provincial Liberal Leader Arthur Laing had a copy of his first prepared statement before it was officially released.

"Ask Mr. Laing himself," Mr. Briggs said.

Big Seas Injure Crew

OWEN SOUND, Ont (CP)—A Toronto-owned freighter, battered for four hours by 25-foot-high waves and 60-mile an-hour winds, reached Owen Sound harbor late Wednesday with an injured captain, wheelsman and third mate.

All three were in the ship's wheelhouse when five heavy plate-glass windows were shattered by a giant wave. The ship-to-shore telephone, radar and directional finder were knocked out. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

The Eastern Shell, was caught Tuesday night in the gale on Lake Huron.

Captain S. G. Williamson of Toronto is in hospital with a cut forehead, severed tendons in his right hand and a cut leg. The third mate, G. Beattie of Gaspe Peninsula, Que., and wheelsman Aubrey Holden of Collingwood, Ont., were treated for minor cuts and later released.

Stock Deals Of This Type Under Fire

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The lifting of the veil on the capital structure of the new Peace River Development Company shows that the lion's share of the equity has been taken up by Wenner-Gren and his associates.

Out of the initial issue of 9,615,086 $1 shares, the Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company is to receive 6,884,424 shares and a further 1,230,660 shares are to be held in the name of Bernard Gore, Wenner-Gren's head man in B.C.

REST DIVIDED

This represents 87 per cent of the issue. The remaining 13 per cent is shared by Western Development and Power (B.C. Electric) and by various English companies who are putting up $1,250,000 in cash for a similar number of shares.

The Wenner-Gren Company is buying 250,000 shares at $1 each, but the remainder of their 8,365,084 shares are in payment of the work they have already done on surveys and studies, and also for the benefits arising from the agreement made by Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company and the B.C. government in October, 1957.

COST 33⅓ CENTS

The valuation applied to these rights is assessed at $2,705,028, so that the vendor shares are being handed over at the equivalent of 33⅓ cents a share.

Thus for an estimated expenditure of $2,705,028 plus the $250,000 it is paying in cash, the Wenner-Gren interests are taking 87 per cent of the equity capital.

CRITICISM CERTAIN

This is the type of risk capital disposal which has been under fire of opposition politicians at Ottawa for some time.

While entirely legal under the private enterprise system, it is the sort of thing that provoked Prime Minister Diefenbaker, then leader of the opposition, to attack the Trans-Canada Pipeline company.

The Borden Commission later expressed its concern that the founder shares of both Trans-Canada Pipeline and Westcoast Transmission Company were sold at prices many times below that at which the public was eventually asked to subscribe.

MORE SURVEYS

The $1,500,000 which will flow into the treasury of Peace River Development Company through the cash sale of 1,500,000 shares, will presumably be sufficient to finance the next stage of the Peace hydro development, which will consist of further engineering surveys and studies of costs.

If the decision then is made to proceed with the hydro plan, the stage will be set for the big money financing to which the public will be asked to subscribe.

Gets $1 Shares For 33⅓ Cents

By ALEC MERRIMAN

Wenner-Gren interests will control 87 per cent of the Peace River Power Development Co. Ltd., which has been formed to develop the world's largest hydro-electric power project in B.C.'s Rocky Mountain Trench area, The Daily Colonist learned last night.

Western Development & Power Limited, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the B.C. Electric will have 5.2 per cent of the shares and three British companies will have 7.8 per cent of the shares.

The company, with authorized capital of 20,000,000 shares of $1 par, was registered at the provincial company's office last month and yesterday it announced an initial issue of 9,615,086 shares, of which 1,500,002 have been paid for in cash at $1 a share.

$250,000 PUT UP

The Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Co. Ltd. has so far put up $250,000 to purchase shares at $1 each.

It has sold all its plans and the memorandum of agreement between Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren and the provincial government to the Peace River Development Company for an assessed value of $2,705,028 for which Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Co. Ltd. receives 8,115,084 shares at a price equivalent to 33⅓ cents for each $1 common share.

PURCHASES LISTED

Western Development and Power Limited of Vancouver has purchased 500,000 shares at $1 each; Power Securities Corp. Ltd. of London, England, the National Bank City Office Nominees Ltd., of London, England, and the Associated Electrical Industries Ltd., of London, England, have each purchased 250,000 shares at $1 each.

A secretary, Muriel Henwood of Vancouver, and a stenographer, Hilda Parsons, of Vancouver, each hold a $1 share.

GOBE HOLDINGS

The Wenner-Gren shares are shown as being received for other consideration such as property or services and 1,230,660 shares of the 8,115,984 are in the name of the company's nominee, Bernard Gore, of London, who is managing director of the Wenner-Gren company and deputy chairman of the Peace River Develop. Company.

The statement filed in the companies' office yesterday is signed by former B.C. finance minister Einar Gunderson as a director of the Peace River company and W. C. Mainwaring, company president.

AGREEMENT SET

Under the agreement of sale the Wenner-Gren company agrees it will at any time, or from time to time, at the expense of the purchaser (Peace River Power Development Company) do anything which may be necessary or advisable to ensure enjoyment by the purchaser of all rights granted by the memorandum of agreement and to ensure title to the purchase of the plants.

The $500,000 bond supplied to the provincial government by Wenner-Gren interests remains the sole property of Wenner-Gren.

PRESIDENT NAMED

The Peace River Power Development Company Ltd. was incorporated Oct. 29 and directors were named in Vancouver Nov. 12 with former B.C. Electric vice-president W. C. Mainwaring as president of the new company.

Ultimate construction on the Peace River in the vicinity of the Rocky Mountain Trench could produce in excess of 4,500,000 horsepower, Wenner-Gren managing director Bernard G. Gore reports.

ADVISED B.C.

"When our engineers discovered the tremendous power potential which would result from damming the Peace River and when this information was weighed against the known fact of an approaching power shortage in British Columbia by the middle of 1960, we hastened to advise the government of our findings as it

Bail Set at $34,000

Sommers Appeals

VANCOUVER (CP) — H. Wilson Gray was released from prison Wednesday on $36,000 bail, just two hours after Robert Sommers, former lands and forests minister, was granted bail to a total of $34,000.

It was expected to be two or three days before Sommers' bondsmen arrive from the interior to go through the courthouse formalities.

FIVE YEARS

Both Gray and Sommers have been sentenced to five years in Oakalla Prison for bribery and conspiracy while Sommers was in the government.

On Wednesday Sommers was granted $24,00 bail by Mr. Justice H. W. Davey, the judge who granted $20,000 bail to Gray on Tuesday.

JANUARY APPEAL

These sums apply to the charges on which both men were convicted and they are appealing to the Court of Appeal sitting that opens in January.

In each case, there is a further $10,000 bail set last March at the preliminary hearing, relating to the charges on which the jury has now disagreed, and which may be re-tried.

Millions Misled By Food Quacks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A cabinet official says there is a "disturbing" rise in food and drug quackery.

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, told a news conference that misleading claims about the benefits of vitamins and other foods have become widespread.

He quoted a report that the false food cure-alls are costing 10,000,000 Americans over $500,000,000 a year.

As an example, Flemming cited a growing number of products offered on the counter as protection against heart disease which he said are "actually worthless for that purpose." Similarly he noted a rash of "unwarranted claims" for nostrums for the aging and for sexual rejuvenation. One such product, he asserted, is called "Royal Jelly" which promoters have sold as a youth and beauty rejuvenator. Royal jelly is a "miracle" food for bees, he said. But has no practical value for humans as a food, drug, or cosmetic.

B.C. Ship Cracks On South Sea Reef

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver deepsea freighter broke in two Wednesday and was abandoned by her crew on a reef in the treacherous Sulu Sea, between the Philippines and Borneo.

All members of the crew, numbering between 10 and 15, were saved.

Owners of the $2,800,000 freighter Lake Burnaby, Western Canada Steamship Co. Ltd. said she ran aground Nov. 3. Salvage tugs had removed half the cargo in hopes of saving the vessel, but a storm blew up Tuesday and the ship broke in two across the reef.

Apple Boxes Make Poor Chairs

A Victoria mother and father have five daughters under 11 years of age. The father earns $210 a month and house rent is $65. For several weeks the mother was hospitalized and a housekeeper had to be employed. Two tonsilectomies, one appendectomy and many other problems hit the family throughout the year. The family is unable to furnish the home properly and apple boxes substitute for chairs. The mother is completely discouraged and on the verge of serious depression.

That is the substance of a report from the Family and Children's Service. And that is the kind of family the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund will help buy those little extras that make Christmas brighter.

The fund rose to $255 yesterday, but at least $10,000 is needed.

Donations are deductible from income tax and may be left at the Colonist's downtown office at 1215 Broad, the main Colonist office at 2631 Douglas or mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas, Victoria. Cheques should be made out to 500 Christmas Fund.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

MANY shirts, dresses and dish towels were, and still are, made from flour sacks.

The only trouble about the versatile and ever-present flour sack was that it carried the maker's name. Some people thought that they lost their dignity if they allowed themselves to become walking advertisements for Five Roses or Robin Hood.

One public-spirited milling company solved this difficulty a few years ago by leaving its sacks white and imprinting the company's label on tough paper, which readily soaked off, leaving a clean blank bag which could be converted into a pillow-case or duster without further fuss.

But this kindly gesture has been foiled by a wholesale grocery firm, which has taken to stamping its name on the bags in indelible ink. Now the housewives who use flour sacks are trying — so far without effect — to make the grocery firm mend its ways.

By the time the message gets through, someone will probably invent a plastic flour sack which is no use for anything except holding flour.

However, this will be poor public relations. Many a child of the depression remembers the time when a layer or two of flour sack was all that stood between himself and the weather.

Some of the homely old packaging materials which were useful for making things are now almost extinct.

There used to be numbers of wooden boxes available for making into furniture. But wood has now become such an expensive material that scarcely anyone can afford to use it.

Almost the only wooden boxes we see nowadays are those that come here from China, Japan or Scotland with tea, oranges or whisky in them.

The same goes for string. Parcels are stuck together with sticky tape. No longer is there a bag hanging behind the door, filled with a tangle of different-sized string saved from parcels. If you want string, you have to buy it—a deplorable state of affairs.

However, changes in packaging methods have brought gains as well as losses to the something-for-nothing brigade.

Thrifty housewives now have a wonderful assortment of transparent polyethelene bags which can be used for packing school lunches, wrapping soggy garbage, encasing vegetables for the freezer, and carrying wet clothes.

Science has compensated us for the loss of string and wooden boxes, by giving us the transparent bag. The bag does have a treacherous side to its nature. Children have suffocated because they put plastic bags over their heads.

The solution to this danger, perhaps, would be a law compelling manufacturers to put holes in their bags, or else color them a distinctive color and letter them with warnings to parents.

Evacuation Remains As Official Policy

Mayor Percy Scurrah, back from a mayors' civil defence forum at Arnprior, Ont., said yesterday he was "interested to find no change in official thinking" on evacuation of cities in case of enemy attack.

"They are still officially advocating evacuation," the mayor said, although he noted that there was scepticism among the mayors on the advisability of the idea.

Of 13 cities regarded as target areas, nine including Victoria had evacuation plans, two were working on plans and two had none. B.C. and Alberta cities were the best organized for emergencies.

Trouble with evacuation in some cities, the mayor said, was that heavy traffic wouldn't be able to get through bottlenecks. Some feel shelters should be built, he said—"The objection is the expense."

Mayor Scurrah said he had asked if anything had been done to provide a defence against submarines throwing missiles with atomic warheads into coastal or even inland cities.

"The answer was that no solution has been found yet, but they are working on it," he said. "That came from a top authority."

MONTREAL (UPI) — A three-alarm fire destroyed eight stores in four hours early yesterday and forced 100 tenants from the area. Mrs. Gerard Menard, 34, was treated in hospital for shock and later released.

REV. WESLEY ASHWIN

Engineer Turns Clergyman

Bridges to Heaven

Building bridges to Heaven is far more important than building ordinary bridges, says an engineer-turned-minister now visiting Victoria.

Rev. Wesley Ashwin, 34, of Woodrow, Sask., here on an evangelistic mission to St. Aidan's United Church, said yesterday that he has never once regretted his decision to cater to the "spiritual rather than the material needs of people."

First push toward coming to a decision to make such a radical switch in careers came in 1949 when the young University of Saskatchewan engineering student was visiting Victoria.

"I met an engineer here," he said "who was also a Christian man. We had many talks together and he strongly urged me to consider the ministry as a career."

Mr. Ashwin returned to his engineering studies in Saskatchewan and graduated as an engineer in 1950. "But I wasn't happy," he said.

Though he was keenly aware of the West's great need for more engineers, he still felt that there was yet a greater need.

"That's when I made my decision for Christ," he said.

So Mr. Ashwin turned his back on engineering and enrolled in Saskatoon's St. Andrew's College, where he was ordained as a minister in 1953.

"And I haven't been unhappy or perplexed since," the young minister said. "There's no doubt whatsoever in my mind that I'm serving the community in a far more vital way than I could as an engineer."

With Mr. Ashwin during the interview at the church manse was Rev. A. I. Avery, St. Aidan's minister.

Mr. Avery observed that more and more engineers are attending church in recent years.

"And I think I know why," said Mr. Ashwin.

"Engineers are men used to dealing with reality and material things. Now many of them have found that the truly real things are spiritual."

Mr. Ashwin will be conducting his evangelistic mission and accepting decisions for Christ tonight through Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the church hall on Cedar Hill Crossroad at Richmond. He will also address the congregation at 11 a.m. Sunday.

A special gathering for the women of the community will be held at 2 p.m. today, also in the church hall.

Three of Every 100 Babies Will Be Mentally Retarded

All parents look forward to the birth of their first child. When little Billy arrived, his mother and father made great plans for him. He would play football, go to the neighborhood school and eventually attend university. The course was set but a real problem arose.

Little Billy did not develop as fast as children of his own age. He was slow in learning to sit up, slower in learning to walk and still could not speak at two years of age. The parents were worried and a little ashamed as they felt their baby's lack of development was their fault, but the parents are not to blame.

HANDICAPPED

Billy is handicapped, mentally retarded. Of every 100 babies born, three will be exceedingly clever and 94 will be of normal intelligence but three will be mentally retarded. This term of retardation should not be confused with mental illness which usually occurs in persons of normal intelligence.

The typical retarded child is so because of a defect in his brain before birth or through brain damage by accident or illness at the time of birth. In some cases it is due to a hereditary factor.

Until recently, these children were the forgotten members of our community. They were largely kept at home as parents did not wish to have their child made the object of the fun and games of normal children. Schooling presented a real problem as special classes for the less severely retarded children were always overcrowded.

As these children grew older, there was very little for them to do. The more severely retarded who could not be cared for at home were sent to Woodlands School in New Westminster. These activities were aimed as mere stop-gap measures; no real progress was made toward continuing educational and vocational activities.

ACTIVE GROUP

Since 1955, the Greater Victoria Association for Retarded Children has been a valuable and active group in developing a continuing interest in the welfare and education of the mentally-retarded children of our community. Efforts were first directed toward organizing a school for those children and this school has been in operation since the fall of 19[illegible].

Fortunately, the services of a specially trained teacher were obtained and now many children are obtaining the maximum training which their retarded level can assimilate. At school, these children master seemingly easy tasks like getting along with others, marching, singing, how to finish simple jobs and some progress on reading and writing, making change and telling time. The aim is not to prepare these children for work but to train them to be personally self-sufficient around the house.

BRIGHTER FUTURE

Retarded children have a brighter future due to the efforts of the parents, educators, health and welfare workers and interested citizens in the association. More interest and support will always be needed.

This week, "Mentally Retarded Children's Week," try to find a way to help. Information of the association, its aims and its work can be obtained from the Community Services Bureau of the health department by telephoning EV 4-4062.

Widest Probe Urged

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan yesterday said Premier Bennett's announced royal commission inquiry into B.C. Power Commission activities should include a full-scale probe of private power policies as well as public power.

He said the policies of the B.C. Electric and Wenner-Gren companies and the impact their operations will have on the welfare of the province and the economy as a whole should be included in any inquiry.

He accused the premier of being determined to give control of B.C. power to private interests.

Campaigner

Holding rabbit's foot in one hand and lantern in the other, French character named DuPont, self-styled "Pope of Aguiguisme," stands next to his wheel-handled bicycle and speaks to a crowd on the Place de la Bourse in Paris about the coming French elections.

Layoffs, Overtime

The boilermakers' union here wired Defence Minister George Pearkes last night asking him to lift the ceiling on the number of workers HMC Dockyard at Esquimalt is allowed to employ.

Union spokesmen charged the limitation on the number of dockyard employees had resulted in a situation where 10 members of the union were laid off last Friday, but 25 still employed "have been working overtime every day this week."

"It's a funny way to help the job situation," said Jim McConachy, business agent of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Ship Builders, Blacksmiths, Forgers and Helpers, Local 191, Victoria.

He claimed the overtime worked by the 25 union members still at the dockyard would have provided regular eight-hour days for 12 more men "at straight time instead of the time and a half overtime being paid the 25."

Commodore John Deane, dockyard superintendent, said last night there was "some truth" to the union claim.

He said the dockyard was required "to keep to a ceiling of a certain number of men," and that the 10 boilermakers' union men had been laid off at the conclusion of a job to make room for the hiring of "six sheet metal workers and five carpenters" for another job.

Another Ship to Work On

Commodore John Deane, RCN superintendent of HMC Dockyard, said last night he hoped soon to see a contract let for the conversion of another navy ship.

He said such a contract would provide work for 150 at one of the local private shipyards.

Wenner-Gren Holds Control

appeared extremely unlikely that any other major power project would be ready to meet the expected power crisis," Mr. Gore said.

Mr. Gore was one of the principals acting on behalf of Axel Wenner-Gren when the memorandum of agreement was issued in October, 1957.

NO CONCESSIONS

Since then a political controversy has raged in B.C. with opposition parties shouting "giveaway" and Premier Bennett shouting just as loud that it is no giveaway and Wenner-Gren has no concessions.

1956 PLAN

The memorandum of agreement followed a November, 1956 memorandum of intention under which it was agreed that the Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company survey the water resources of the Rocky Mountain Trench area with the development of hydro power as the objective.

The October, 1957, memorandum of agreement, which has been sold to the Peace River Power Development Company, along with plans to date, for $2,705,028 in shares, states:

1. Technical feasibility surveys to substantiate preliminary conclusions that a major hydro-project on the Peace River is practicable be carried out by Wenner-Gren interests.

EXPECTED SOON

2. Surveys to be completed so that on or before Dec. 31, 1959, if found feasible from the engineering standpoint, a firm construction commitment may be finalized and a comprehensive plan providing for the maximum economic developments of the Peace River potential may be filed with the comptroller of water rights. (This plan is expected soon.)

3. Wenner-Gren interests proceed with construction of a major hydro-electric project on the Peace River in accordance with laws of the province and terms of the agreement.

PHASES, TIMES

4. The comprehensive plan for economic development of the Peace River shall be approved by the comptroller of water rights within three months of filing, such approval not to be unreasonably withheld. Plan will show phases and times of construction, estimated costs, and the program for placing generated energy on the market.

5. Usage of any water and frequence of hydro developments will be subject to approval of comptroller of water rights under provisions of the Water Act.

6. No major diversion of the course of any river or stream shall be made.

7. Any land flooded will be suitably cleared and prepared to satisfaction of lands and forests minister.

8. Public buildings, railways, roads and other public structures flooded will be replaced and private owners of land flooded will be compensated in manner provided for in Water Act.

SURPLUS POWER

9. Power produced will be made available on a first-call basis in the northeast and north-central regions of province. Power which is surplus from time to time to the then requirements of these areas will be made available in the public interest throughout the province to the British Columbia Power Commission, utility companies, industrial and other prospective users.

10. Rates charged for power sold will be subject to regulation by Public Utilities Commission, provided that no additional sum is charged in the northeast and north central areas to equalize costs of transmission to other parts of the province.

TAXES PLANNED

11. All taxes, rates, rentals, royalties, fees and other charges levied under the law of the province, including rental for water used for power production in the developed project, shall be paid where applicable.

12. A company will be incorporated to develop and operate the power project contemplated in the agreement. (That is the Peace River Power Development Co. Ltd.)

13. Canadians shall be given the opportunity to participate in the capital financing of the company.

14. Downstream benefits will be calculated and the province will be entitled to share in any return from these benefits.

15. British Columbia equipment, labor and supplies will be given preference where practicable and whenever practicable the transportation of men and materials will be by PGE Railway.

More Work for Shipwrights

FOLLOWING on the contract award of a naval destroyer escort to both local shipyards on approximately equal shares, the contract given to VMD for one of the two projected provincial ferries will be a boost to the industry here. Unfortunately it will have no immediate effect on the unemployment situation because of the time lag involved in securing the steel, but early in the new year the work should get under way and prospects are brighter for a year or two thereafter.

There were ample grounds for both warship and ferry being built here: as an unemployment relief, because local yards can build these ships and build them well, and for the substantial reason it is in the national interest that the industry be kept in active being. It is worth noting that the ferry contract is not awarded as an act of government grace, however, but on the merit of the lowest tender. There was warrant for it being otherwise had this been necessary, because of the offsetting factor of tax returns to the B.C. treasury.

A surprising feature of the bids was the difference in the prices quoted. It has been common argument that eastern yards could build ships cheaper than B.C. yards, owing to the higher economic standards prevailing here, but the figures nullify this point of view. A Montreal yard for instance submitted a bid which was a million-and-a-half dollars more than that tendered by VMD. Officials of the local yard say they deliberately bid low to keep work in the yard, and that was commendable, but even so the spread would not reach that figure.

Another pleasing aspect of the local shipbuilding scene is the agreement reached between management and labor on the current wage dispute. A settlement has been effected and here again the desire to keep men at work has been dominant. The terms are not all that the union sought but as one union official put it, "I was determined to avoid a strike vote." It is expected that union members will accept the recommendation of their representatives. Co-operation on both sides, added to the strenuous efforts made to secure work contracts, is paying off.

Mr. Briggs on Television

TELEVISION performed a valuable public service in British Columbia this week. The interview arranged in Vancouver with Mr. H. Lee Briggs, dismissed manager of the B.C. Power Commission, commanded attention not so much perhaps for what was said during it—though that, too, was important—as for the opportunity thus afforded viewers of the screen to assess for themselves the character and demeanor of the man who has thrown this province into a turmoil.

Earlier Mr. Briggs by his bombshell attack on the Social Credit government and the B.C. Electric Company had provoked retorts contemptible for the reflection they contained on the state of Mr. Briggs' health. The ubiquitous Mr. Einar Gunderson airily dismissed Mr. Briggs' allegations with the ungentlemanly comment that he should see a doctor. Dr. Dal Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric, put it more succinctly, describing Mr. Briggs as a man suffering from emotional disintegration. The meaning was perfectly clear. The public was invited by two men holding high positions in the province to regard the allegations as coming from an official whose state of mental health was not normal.

Then came a TV interview not exactly fortuitous for Messrs. Gunderson and Grauer. For a quarter of an hour viewers had an opportunity not only to listen to Mr. Briggs but also to see him, to watch his deportment and facial expressions as he quietly discussed one difficult question after another; and make their own judgment therefrom. In living rooms everywhere within the range of the broadcast the verdict is likely to have been strongly against the two men who had resorted to a disgraceful and most insulting form of retaliation.

Regardless of the validity or otherwise of Mr. Briggs' statements, no one who saw him on TV could harbor misgivings as to his state of mind. The conclusion is more likely to be that if this was the picture of a man suffering from emotional breakdown there is small hope for the mentality of anyone.

Rocket Defence Is Static

BY developing rocket defences in conjunction with the United States, Canada is entering a new field of endeavor. Defence Minister Pearkes' announcement that the U.S. Bomarc missile ordered for this nation in an improved version will cost considerably less than the originally expected $164,000,000 for two equipped stations should be a relief to the defence budget of the country. At the same time, two Bomarc stations on a fixed line between Sault Ste. Marie and Quebec City, capable of firing missiles with a range of approximately 400 miles, would only be a fixed and static defence for the parabola of territory thus protected. It is true that this includes a considerable proportion of the industrialized east and some of our largest cities; but what of the rest of the country? Is America or Canada to defend that?

What one is thinking of is not so much the cost of rocket stations, each with 50 launching pads, nor even the effectiveness of the Bomarc missile within its given range; but the tied-down, immovable nature of this form of sectional defence. The Sault Ste. Marie-Quebec line of protection might constitute a useful form of deterrent within the 400-mile range; but what of Halifax, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Goose Bay, Vancouver, the vital passes in the Rockies and other prime targets, in the event of hostilities at some future period? The answer may be clear in the government's mind, but it is not yet so to the people.

Obviously in a joint air defence the United States might assume a major share of the protective cover on a continental basis, possibly including the Arctic and both seaboards. That would still leave a lot of Canada outside of the peripheries to the defence of which the Sault line could contribute only the deterrent of its own fixed defence in a limited area.

One must concede that the problem is beyond the scope of lay minds, and one common to every state at this time. Great Britain, faced with a somewhat different geographical situation, has chosen to retain her improved front-line supersonic fighters so long as there are manned bombers in the field. They, too, have a short refuelling range, but fighter squadrons are mobile and not tied to fixed areas on the ground. Is Mr. Pearkes convinced that Bomarcs, alone or in conjunction with U.S. effort, will cover the field?

Interpreting the News

Army Coup in the Sudan

By ED SIMON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

FOR the seventh time in the last year, a democratic government has been overthrown by army officers with the seizure of power in the Sudan by Gen. Ibrahim Abboud.

The military coup, once an institution peculiar to Latin America, is toppling civil authorities in all parts of the world. Its effects, good or ill, have been felt in the Middle East and Southeast Asia, with repercussions affecting the entire Western Alliance.

Circumstances have varied from one country to another, but the one factor common to all the fallen regimes has been the weakness of the democratic institutions under attack.

In the Sudan, the outgoing coalition government of Premier Abdullah Khalil was disintegrating, partly under pressure from the United Arab Republic to the north, in a split over foreign policy.

The infant republic, which emerged from the joint rule of Britain and Egypt only two years ago, was ill-equipped to meet the emergency. The Moslems in the northern half of the country were divided into factions supporting and opposing closer relations with the U.A.R.'s President Gamal Abdel Nasser. The primitive African tribes in the south play little part in Sudanese politics.

The early stages of any military coup offer few clues as to the intentions of its perpetrator and the comparative obscurity of Gen. Abboud has given rise to a number of conflicting predictions.

Some observers, noting the pro-Western leanings of the Khalil regime, interpret its fall as a Nasser victory, suspecting that the general is being used as a figurehead by U.A.R. agents, after the pattern of Gen. Mohammed Naguib, who preceded Nasser to power in Egypt.

"What do I do now, George?"

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I suppose I should type this morning's effusion in small letters, since, alas, I am one of those individuals who a certain gentleman has advised the world are merely peanut throwers.

Actually I am not very fond of peanuts, or nuts of any kind, be they mineral, vegetable or human, and it is disconcerting to learn that for some years now I have been dealing in such a humble commodity. And, dear me, I had hoped so much that at least my contribution to the market of my affinity would be something akin to the size of an apple.

How sadly true it is that one is never aware of what one has been doing until an outsider, knowing nothing about the subject and therefore being an expert on it, puts the perspective on an allegedly proper level.

The shades, o verity, of Robert Burns and his ranting Robin of other days.

In my innocence for instance I have kept the door of my sanctorium wide open, so that I expose not only the peculiar mannerisms to which I am prone but thereby cause an invitation to be extended to all and sundry who pass by to stop, look and listen, and, if so inclined, to pop in and have their say, about peanuts or anything else. And, much to my discomfiture sometimes albeit they are very welcome, when I am in the midst of fashioning one of these peanuts I am now informed about, they do.

But, seemingly, none of this is so. I am laboring under a delusion. My door is not open but closed, and like others of my ilk I am sitting in an easy chair where no one can see me. There is a little bumfle in my chair cushion which rather plagues me at a certain portion of my anatomy, as a matter of fact, but I must henceforth believe this also to be purely an imaginative circumstance.

For of course, even though I write these words while someone is gazing at me through the doorway, preparatory perhaps to asking me if I have any spare peanuts, I have the word of an eminent personage, a most illustrious VIP indeed, that with others of my mistaken profession I am closeted in some kind of ivory tower, remote from the arena where men are men, especially when they are politicians.

It is therefore in a subdued mood, you will understand, that I express faint wonder that a mere peanut, or even a whole box of them, should so disturb the gentleman concerned that he asks an audience to regard them as drivel. Even a humble peanut, after all, can be an enticing morsel, although possibly this is the nub of the nut itself, as it were. I hope you will excuse me if I say further that my wonder is increased by the declaration, spread to various confines by the magic of radio, that nobody reads editorials, which as you know are a collection of peanuts packaged in one parcel. For if that be so, and who can gainsay the opinion of so big a VIP, why then should his equanimity be so upset?

Why indeed? Unless it be, contrary to the contrite words of the foregoing, that the man was encompassed by the exuberance of his own verbosity and as a result was just blethering.

Reports from Ottawa

WILL new aid for the unemployed this winter be "built-in" or "ad hoc"?

The Latin "ad hoc," a bit of Ottawa's official jargon, literally means "to the thing." Loosely, it means temporarily so long as the condition or situation exists.

The government's recent offer to pay part of the cost of work-making municipal projects like sewers and streets is ad hoc aid. It's for this year only. What, if anything, the government may do next year will depend on conditions and the government's disposition at that time.

The increase in unemployment insurance benefits which Labor Minister Starr says he will ask Parliament to authorize would seem to be built-in aid. That is, it will become part of the law of Canada, and payments will be made at the new high rate in 1959, in 1960 and succeeding years until Parliament again sees fit to change the rates.

But experience has shown that statutory increase once bestowed cannot be rescinded or reduced without subjecting the government to grave political danger. Statutory increases are this "built-in." From the point of view of practical politics, the only direction in which Parliament can alter them is upwards.

The right wing elements of the Conservative Party would almost certainly prefer ad hoc aid, to avoid saddling employers and the national treasury with permanently higher rates on contribution to the unemployment insurance fund. But the right wingers are not in command of the party.

The CCF would certainly prefer built-in aid.

For political reasons the Liberals cannot afford to appear unwilling to go all out in aid for the unemployed. But they would not be unhappy if the Tories adopted a course of financial caution this winter. The Grits might then make more hay with the old cry of "too little and too late." And they could also make much of this return to "relief" or "the dole" under a Tory administration.

The Conservatives are probably too smart to let the Grits get them over this barrel. The Tories want the voters to forget 1930-35. That's one reason why, although they harken back incessantly to Sir John A. Macdonald, they rarely refer to R. B. Bennett.

Thus the betting is that Labor Minister Starr's proposal of increased unemployment insurance benefits will be built-in, and not merely an increase to meet conditions which will obviously be difficult this winter.

With unemployment at Sept. 30 higher by 74,000 than a year earlier despite a 60 per cent drop in immigration, the chance of the unemployment insurance fund going broke, or at least requiring extra financial support by the government, no longer appears remote.

The fund takes a beating coming and going. When unemployment is heavy, it not only has to pay out more, but its revenues from employee-employer-government contributions are correspondingly reduced.

The fund contained $644,000,000 Sept. 30, down $234,000,000 in a year. It was only $144,000,000 above the $500,000,000 mark, the point where Starr said the danger starts.

A winter no worse than the last one will put the fund $90,000,000 below this critical point—and Sept. 30 figures on jobless indicate this winter may be considerably worse. Starr's proposed increase in benefits from the present $30 weekly maximum to $35 and $36, depending on wage brackets, will scarcely stretch the money left in the fund.

The Packsack

of GREGORY CLARK

ONE REASON for the popularity of cigarets is that a cigaret fits any mouth. The same cannot be said for pipes. Pipe manufacturers produce everything from fishtails to "denture bits" in the way of mouthpieces. And since a customer does not feel like trying the fit of a pipe the way he might try the fit of a hat, many a man is thoroughly unsuited as far as the fit of his pipe in his teeth is concerned. I was in my thirteenth lustrum, which means I was past sixty, before I discovered that what I needed in the way of a pipe stem was a little narrow thing, twelve millimetres wide and four millimetres thick. And for years I had been going around chomping on all sorts of pipe stems, some of them about as comfortable as a mouthful of plumbing.

A pipe is a great solace. Above everything, it invites reflection. You do not go shooting off your mouth with a pipe in it. I expect very few pipe smokers ever get into the divorce courts. A man thinks twice with a pipe in his teeth, for the simple reason that by the time he has got the pipe out of his teeth, he has had time to think twice.

A pipe, you might say, is a stopper. There are, it is true, men who can chatter with pipe in mouth. But there are not many of them, and not worth listening to. It has been my experience in fourteen lustra that the man worth listening to takes three puffs before he speaks, and then, then, takes the pipe out, and speaks.

Unions and Politics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

ADMISSION in open court by 14 national labor unions that dues and assessments levied by those unions have been and are being used for political purposes is the latest development in the right-to-work controversy.

In a trial being held in Macon, Ga., several persons who have been compelled against their will to join a railway labor union under a so-called "union shop" agreement are suing to have such contracts declared in violation of the Constitution of the United States and of the right-to-work laws of the State of Georgia.

Eight railroads and terminal companies, along with the 14 national and international unions in the railway industry as well as various machinists unions, are jointly made defendants, as the involuntary union members have been threatened with loss of their jobs if they fail to continue the payment of dues. The workers contend that the purpose of the dues and assessments is not just to meet collective-bargaining expenses but to carry on campaigns of a political nature in order to elect candidates for public office, and that this is at variance with their beliefs.

"Stipulations of fact" now have been entered in the trial, which means both sides concede the truth of the statement that tens of thousands of dollars of dues money have been used for political campaigns.

The present civil suit deals with the question of involuntary tribute levied on working men under the guise of dues and assessments for "collective bargaining" expenses. Up to now, it has been repeatedly argued that those individuals who don't belong to a union in a shop where a majority are union members are "free riders." But here the worker who has joined says the dues have not been used merely for union expenses but for political purposes, too.

The opening statement of counsel for the workers declares, "that the labor unions, through the union-shop agreement, are extracting money from them (the workers) against their will." He adds that, under the First, Fifth, Ninth and Tenth Amendments of the United States Constitution, the workers are supposed to be protected "from such unwarranted invasion of their freedom of association, freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom to work, and political freedom as the exaction of said money and its said misuse bring about."

The international unions which are defendants in the case have formed various political leagues and associations, and all the unions mentioned are members of the AFL-CIO. These associations, according to the "stipulated" facts, have received direct contributions from labor unions.

The unions also concede that the dues, fees and assessments required to be paid by members under the "union shop" agreement "have been, are being, and will be used in substantial part for purposes other than the negotiation, maintenance, and administration of agreements concerning rates of pay, rules and working conditions, or wages, hours, terms and other conditions of employment, or the handling of disputes relating to the above."

The Supreme Court of Georgia on June 10, 1957, decided that this practice was a violation of the federal constitution and remanded the case to the Superior Court of Bibb County, Georgia, for further injunction proceedings. The Supreme Court of Georgia quoted from a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which held that dues payments cannot be "used as a cover for enforcing ideological conformity or other action in contravention of the First or the Fifth Amendments." The Georgia Supreme Court then made the following declaration in its 1957 decision:

"We do not believe one can constitutionally be compelled to contribute money to support ideas, politics and candidates which he (the worker) opposes. We believe his right to immunity from such exactions is superior to any claim the union can make upon him."

Had this issue been fully explained to the voters of the five states which rejected right-to-work laws and had not many millions of dollars (some estimates run up as high as $1,200,000 in California alone) derived in part from union dues been applied to defeat those laws, there might have been a different outcome.

Letters to the Editor

Backward Step

I strongly disagree with Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts' suggestion, as quoted in Tuesday's Colonist, that minors be subject to jail terms for consuming liquor especially in respect to those in the 18-21 years age group.

Persons 18 to 21 years old are certainly capable of using discrimination when it comes to partaking of alcoholic beverages. In certain European countries (Germany, for example), the legal age for drinking liquor is 18 years. In this province, the vote has been given to persons in the above-noted age group. Surely the ability to vote is a sign of responsibility?

On the contrary, I recommend a slackening of liquor laws and regulations, including the lowering of the legal age to 18 years for the drinking of liquor.

My interests in this matter are not personal. I have myself not much use for alcoholic beverages; but I see the privilege to drink liquor as a basic right of the individual. I like to think that a democracy permits the greatest amount of personal freedom. To make our liquor laws more severe would be a step backward to the days when the state was the master of the people, not the servant of the people, as it should be in a democracy.

May I suggest that, in the light of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's proposed bill of rights, there should be a complete revision of our whole Canadian system of laws, to the end that there shall not exist in our codes of justice any laws not representative of a truly democratic society in this era of modern progress and enlightenment?

Speculator's Paradise

The reeve of Saanich hit the nail on the head by stating that strict subdivision control may be the answer to the municipality's major problem and not amalgamation with the city of Victoria.

Saanich has been for far too long a real estate speculator's paradise, largely at the expense of the taxpayers.

All Saanich needs to do is follow the methodical development policy practiced in Oak Bay. Quite definitely the Saanich council has the power, so why does the council not show the will to act and prove that Saanich is capable of standing on its own feet and keeping its own house in order?

Pensions Outside Canada

Under the heading "Pension Injustice," I note a letter from Agnes Sposito. It is unfortunate that the notice she referred to was enclosed with the last old-age pension cheques, for it is not intended to mean just what she reads into it.

I suggest that she and others visit the OAP offices in the federal (post office) building. The staff there I have found to be very friendly and helpful, and will better explain this matter. She and others should also contact the Victoria member, Mr. McPhillips.

Before the last election I dealt with this matter of paying the pensions outside Canada and quoted a letter to myself from Mr. McPhillips, in which he stated that there was no logical reason why it should not be paid outside Canada. I have no doubt that he will keep his word and urge that this be dealt with in the next session of Parliament and that the necessary legislation will be passed.

But a reminder of our member and the Ottawa Government should not be neglected. I feel sure, too, that all the opposition parties will support this.

Fate of Ferry Run Likely Next Week

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said yesterday a decision on future operation of the Mill Bay ferry should be reached next week.

He will discuss the question with the provincial cabinet.

Coast Ferries Ltd., present operators and only company to submit a tender to operate the Mill Bay-Brentwood service, has asked for a $30,000-a-year subsidy to operate one ferry. Mr. Gaglardi had offered $1,000 a month subsidy.

Coast Ferries is still operating on a one-month trial basis with an agreement that the highways department will subsidize any losses.

Haunting dreams caused by newspaper headlines of atom war scares and by fear of the future of her children inspired this piece of art work by Ruth Ray. Champagne Case Popping

LONDON (UPI) — London's ancient criminal court found itself tied up in knots yesterday in an international dispute: When is champagne champagne?

International law, Queen Elizabeth's taste in wine, the spelling of "Welsh rarebit" and the wit of Britain's top lawyers was loosed in a test case inspired by French authorities against "Spanish champagne" in a British court.

The Champagne Association of Britain and two French associations initiated the prosecution against the Costa Brava Wine Company on a charge of violating the British trade mark laws. It sells a wine labelled "Spanish champagne."

The champions of French champagne claim that only the white bubbling wine from France's department (region) of Champagne can be called champagne.

Sample:

Defence attorney Gerald Gardner, "Rabbit is a furry animal with four legs?"

Prosecution witness George Tucker, wine butler at the Euston hotel for 12 years—"Yes."

"What is Welsh rabbit?"

"A concoction of cheese."

"You cannot say it would be a false description because it is not a furry animal?"

The prosecution got its licks in Monday. Chief prosecution counsel Geoffrey Lawrence took up the possible defence argument that since there are such wines as Spanish burgundy, Spanish Graves, South African sherry and so on, there might as well be Spanish champagne.

"Is not that argument," he asked, "rather like a man saying, 'I have stolen your hat, your coat, your jacket, and your vest. Now you are not going to be so unreasonable as to object when I steal your trousers?'"

Bonner Ignorance Is Bliss

VANCOUVER (CP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner says he is "happy" he doesn't know who paid off the $6,000 balance on former forest minister Robert Sommers' bank loan.

In an interview here Wednesday Mr. Bonner said the loan is "a dead question. It was not a matter at issue in Sommers' bribe - conspiracy trial. It had no relationship in my understanding to the circumstances that made the original matter one for the courts."

Asked who paid the loan, the attorney-general replied, "I'm happy to say I don't know."

Asked if he felt any discomfort or embarrassment over the handling of the Sommers case, Mr. Bonner said, "None whatsoever."

In the light of known facts action was taken conscientiously, he said, but added: "We might wish that different facts had revealed themselves at an earlier period of time."

She succeeds J. A. Bayliss, recently retired CPR employee, who was engineer at the Crystal Garden for many years.

Vice-president is plumber Oliver Day. Other officers are Mrs. Irene Grainger, recording secretary; Alfred McCullum, treasurer; Gordon Stancombe, financial secretary; James Grealy, local grievance committee chairman; Mrs. Del Bean, educational chairman.

The union is Empress Hotel division of Local 276, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers.

Demands Retraction

Worley 'Not Unhappy' At Bennett's Bouquet

Ronald B. Worley last night demanded that a Vancouver newspaper columnist retract statements suggesting that the former executive assistant to Premier Bennett resented being publicly commended by his former boss.

The bouquet went out to Mr. Worley as the premier spoke to the Sidney Chamber of Commerce Monday night.

Mr. Worley was in the audience when the premier referred to him as a trusted and valued employee whom he hated to lose.

The Vancouver columnist suggested Mr. Worley didn't like the premier's remarks.

"Obviously I'm not unhappy about it," said Mr. Worley.

If he looked unhappy, he explained, it was because he is not used to appearing or being singled out in public.

Mayor, Reeve Touch Off Birthday Fire

Victoria's Mayor Percy Scurrah and Saanich's Reeve George Chatterton amalgamated to touch off a roaring fire on top of Mount Tolmie last night.

Occasion was the big billowing bonfire atop the mountain to mark British Columbia's 100th birthday.

The mayor and the reeve amalgamated long enough to plunge two flaming brands into the huge pile of oil-soaked brush at 7 p.m., while hundreds of screaming, excited children urged them on.

The big pile erupted into flame with no trouble at all, but a tiny, earlier blaze plagued the two dignitaries somewhat. The two-foot candle from Nanaimo's centennial cake which the reeve had brought along nearly didn't light at all.

Wintry winds which were whipping the mountain top blew out several matches wielded by Mayor Scurrah. He finally succeeded with a borrowed lighter and a borrowed hat to shield the flame.

But the candle blew out anyway as they stumbled along a narrow, rocky trail to the sites of the bonfire.

The big blaze, which could be seen from practically every part of Greater Victoria, was still glowing hours later.

Mrs. Avis Walton, a Mt. Tolmie resident and Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group member, was largely responsible for the B.C. birthday plan.

"It means a great time for the kids," she said last night, "on top of that, the Mt. Tolmie fire hazard has been greatly reduced by gathering up the brush."

She suggested that another step in the beautification of the mountain could be taken by Sunday strollers. "If they took along a seed or a bulb every time they took a walk over the mountain," she said, "it would soon be a glorious spot."

A blue spruce was planted on the tip of the mountain by Dr. Ronald Grant, member of the Capital Improvement District Commission.

Also contributing to the whole affair were the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee, Max Zabel of the Chamber of Commerce, tree-donor Rudolph Williams, land and sea rangers of the Girl Guides, Rainbow Sea Cadets, PPCLI regulars and cadets, Junior Natural History Society, Greater Victoria centennial committee and scores of youngsters who gathered most of the firewood.

U.S. Hits Back at Reds

New Threat to Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—The East German communists yesterday posed a new threat to the vital Allied air lanes which link isolated Berlin with the West. The West also was warned against taking any aggressive action against East Germany.

"Professor Reintanz," head of the International Law Institute at the East Zone's Martin Luther University in Halle, contended that the western powers were using the air-corridors over East Germany illegally for non-military traffic.

Reintanz' statement posed the danger that the communists might be planning to interfere with or restrict traffic.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States hit back at Russia in the tense war of nerves over Berlin. It accused the Soviets of "massive interference" in German affairs by maintaining the puppet East German regime through force.

It brushed aside as "ridiculous" Russia's charges that the U.S. was using West Germany and Red-encircled West Berlin as an espionage hub.

Space Challenge Stills Big-Power Bickering

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The awesome challenge of outer space appeared to have stilled United Nations member countries' procedural disputes over how man should deal with it.

Political, military, legal, medical and economic questions—to name only a few—remain unsolved. But for the first time the Eastern and Western big powers seem agreed that no small issues should stand in the way of humanity's progress into the void.

Tuesday afternoon Russia's deputy foreign minister, Valerian Zorin, told the UN's political committee, which has been debating the issues of outer space since last week, that his Moscow government would step down from its previously solid position of linking outer space with big-power military bases on foreign soil. This contention, obviously aimed at the United States, until then had threatened any form of agreement here.

The Soviet delegate earlier in the day has passed this word privately to U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, and repeated it at a press conference attended by correspondents representing all areas of the world. There was a welcoming reaction at the UN even before Zorin spoke up in the political committee itself.

Russia Slams Door On A-Ban Accord

GENEVA (UPI)—Russia has slammed the door on a Western compromise plan to get the deadlocked atom conference down to a controlled nuclear test ban.

The United States and Britain proposed that the conference negotiate on a test suspension accord.

But Russia's chief delegate, Semyon Tsarapkin, stood by the demand that agreement on test suspension "forever" must come first.

Weatherman Out on Limb

Normal Winter In the Cards

"Even the most weather-wise experts can't make reliable long-range predictions," says Victoria's official weatherman William Mackie.

So with that he gazed into a mock-up crystal ball (the bottom of a silex coffee-maker) and went out on a limb regarding Victoria's coming winter.

"I certainly don't see another winter like last year's," he said. (Victoria last year recorded one of its all-time mild winters.)

"It should be much closer to normal for this area. It will average out a little cooler and there will be more precipitation."

The 40-year-old weatherman — assisted by six other meteorological experts and thousands of dollars worth of equipment — is given credit by most people for doing a pretty good forecasting job.

"Our forecasts can't be made with much accuracy beyond two days," he said. "There are just too many variables to take into account.

"And these variables make liars of us every so often, too," he said.

Mr. Mackie wishes that people planning picnics and such would remember this when they phone him at the Gonzales Hill weather office to get a guarantee of good weather.

"We just can't give it," he said. "The best we can do is average it out for them, and tell them what the chances are on the basis of past years' performance."

He said that not very many people blame him for the weather. "Victorians are pretty good on the whole," he added.

The weatherman had a word for the "experts" who are always muttering, "It's them atom bombs" whenever the weather is a bit freakish or because the weather "ain't like it was when we were kids."

"Rubbish," he said. "Atomic explosions have absolutely no effect on the weather . . . U.S. Weather Bureau tests have proven this."

He said atom blasts are colossal by man's standards but pretty puny when compared, say, to thunderstorms or hurricanes.

"A number of H-bomb explosions would be needed to keep a hurricane going, for instance," he said.

Fish Fee Boost Urged

NANAIMO — Associated Chambers of Commerce fisheries committee meeting in Nanaimo yesterday under chairman Will Dobson of [illegible] advocated an increase in licence fees for commercial fishermen.

Mr. Dobson said that the present licence is too nominal and does nothing to protect commercial fishermen who rely on fish for their livelihood.

He said that under the present situation, commercial fishermen could be "raided" by others who had other jobs.

"It's a form of moonlighting," said Mr. Dobson.

He said his committee had also advocated an increased budget for the fisheries department so that patrols could be increased. He claimed that U.S. sport fishermen were "taking more than their limit back to the states."

Efforts to eliminate dogfish from B.C. waters was suggested as a "conservation measure." The dogfish, it was pointed out, was increasing in numbers and destroying herring which was the food of the coho salmon.

Longer Season Wanted

NANAIMO — A concerted effort will be made by 22 Chambers of Commerce on Vancouver Island to extend the present tourist season.

Sam Lane, Victoria, ACCVI tourist committee chairman, said the tourist industry "lagged" in September and October.

His committee hoped efforts could be made to extend the season from Sept. 1 to mid-October by extolling the climatic conditions and the sport fishing possibilities during that time through an extensive publicity campaign for the whole of Vancouver Island.

Freight Rates Boost Protested in Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Increase in freight rates drew protests yesterday from executive members of the Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce and from the president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island at an ACCVI meeting here.

Work Started on Multi-Million-Dollar Water Tunnel

First work in preparation for the digging of the multi-million-dollar tunnel which will replace the Sooke Lake water pipeline was given approval yesterday by the Greater Victoria water board.

The board approved construction of an access road to the Japan Gulch end of the tunnel route and clearing of about six acres for a rock dump, at a total cost of $34,000.

Another access road and rock dump area are expected to be built at the Sooke Lake end of the tunnel route in the coming year.

Water commissioner Ronald Upward told the board there was some urgency about getting started. The present pipeline, he said, could supply only another 20,000 persons.

"There's no time to waste, with Saanich growing like mad," Mayor Percy Scurrah agreed.

The warm, dry summer yielded the water board a $50,000 surplus in Greater Victoria, and the board decided to spend this money on cleaning and cement-lining a 36-inch main which comes in to Fountain Circle along Burnside, across to Gorge near Manchester and then along Gorge.

Mr. Upward said the main was in "leaky shape."

This work and the road-building, he said, had been approved by the provincial government as winter work which should qualify for the federal contribution of 50 per cent of labor costs for men who otherwise would be unemployed.

Mr. Upward said the cleaning and lining of the main would not interrupt service.

The board decided to seek "a better deal" on Kapoor Lumber land it needs for the tunnel right-of-way. The company offered to exchange the land, valued at $4,700, for water board land valued at $8,500.

Mooney Will Back Heated Pool Plan

Ald. Millard H. Mooney yesterday supported Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow's idea of turning Horseshoe Bay on the Beacon Hill waterfront into a heated, salt-water swimming pool.

If a bigger pool were wanted, he said, Gonzales Bay could be enclosed.

He said: "We would get community help 100 per cent." He also thought it was a suitable project for the Capital Improvement District Commission.

Mrs. Kerr Sobs in Court

Suicide Possible Murder Jury Told

RCMP Sergeant Tells Of Suspect's Sad Song

A North Pender Island woman accused of the murder of her husband broke down and cried yesterday during testimony of an RCMP sergeant who admitted the facts in the death were consistent with suicide.

Mrs. Alice Louella Kerr, 54, charged in connection with the gunshot death of her husband, Albert, 56, in their Gulf Islands' home Aug. 10, sobbed openly when Sgt. Peter Gregory said she had sung a few bars of the song "Vaya Con Dios" on the RCMP launch which brought her to Victoria after she was charged.

WORDS CHECKED

She had appeared impassive throughout most of the trial.

Defence counsel Alan B. Macfarlane asked the witness if he had checked the words of the song subsequently and he said he had and they meant, "May God be with you my love."

Sgt. Gregory, a member of the RCMP criminal investigation branch, produced a plan showing the height the rifle was held and the path of the bullet which shattered Mr. Kerr's skull.

QUITE POSSIBLE

"Your reconstruction is completely consistent with the deceased having held this gun and shot himself is it not?" asked defence counsel Alan B. Macfarlane.

"It is quite possible," relied Sgt. Gregory.

In demonstrating how two marks on the floor of the Kerr home had been caused by the 32.20 Winchester carbine being dropped, Sgt. Gregory let the rifle fall to the floor in front of the jury. Before dropping it he held it with the muzzle at his temple and his finger on the trigger.

REFUSED TO SIGN

Sgt. Gregory said Mrs. Kerr had given him a statement but that she was charged with her husband's murder before she signed and subsequently refused to sign anything.

The accused had told the sergeant that she and her husband had been worried over debts and that creditors were exerting a great deal of pressure for the payment of the bills.

When she was officially charged with murder she replied: "Not guilty."

WORD OF ABUSE

The witness also said Mrs. Kerr had spoken to him on a few occasions on the RCMP launch but "on each occasion it was a word of abuse."

From the path of the bullet it was consistent that Mr. Kerr could have shot himself by placing the muzzle of the carbine at his temple, he said, but Mrs. Kerr could not have shot him with the rifle at her shoulder.

None of the clothes of the accused were bloodstained, he said.

TEST MADE

Last Saturday, in company with counsel, he had conducted a test of firing the death gun in the Kerr home at North Pender Island, said Sgt. Gregory. He said the sound of the shot inside the house was not much louder than a .22 rifle.

(Mrs. Kerr told investigating police at the time of the shooting she had heard a "ping.")

"You were surprised how little noise the .32 Winchester made?" asked Mr. Macfarlane.

"That is right," replied the witness.

Earlier tests had been made with a 30.30 and the walls had rattled with the shot, he said, but it was not possible to test the sound the death gun made until now because it had been sent to the crime laboratory in Regina.

A letter written by the deceased to his first wife in Sault Ste. Marie was also read into the record. One sentence read: "I have only hoped I would have passed on long before this."

A 14-year-old boy, Raymond Daniels, who was not sworn after he told the court he did not know the meaning of swearing on oath, gave evidence that Mrs. Kerr had twice threatened to shoot her husband.

The case will continue today.

Busy, Warm, Happy Birthday

Road Sander Killed West of Courtenay

COURTENAY—Road sanding operations following an overnight freeze resulted in a fatal accident at Comox Lake, 20 miles west of here yesterday.

Dead is Hugh Morrison, 28, of Courtenay, a married man with two children and son of a pioneer family in this area.

He was fatally injured when the truck overturned on the icy road during sanding operations, crushing him between the vehicle and a log.

A comanpion, Mike Sugre, 64, also of Courtenay, suffered only a shaking up. He climbed through a window of the truck after it overturned.

Sugre said Morrison opened door of the truck and looked back when the vehicle started to skid and was thrown out when it overturned.

The accident victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Morrison of Courtenay.

PORT ALBERNI—There are no logs being hauled in Franklin River division of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. pending settlement of a dispute on truck drivers' hours of work.

A company spokesman said yesterday officials of Local 1-85 IWA had "illegally countermanded" the company's instructions and prevented the drivers from reporting at 7.15 a.m. Monday.

"Because of this refusal to follow lawful instructions it has become impossible to continue normal operations. The company intends to operate as fully as possible under the circumstances but, due to lack of hauling, operations will have to be gradually suspended," he said.

The M. & B. official said that negotiations had been carried on between the company and the union regarding working conditions in the combined operations following the merger between Franklin River and Sarita River operations.

A release from the IWA local said the crew at Franklin River division is reporting for work but proposals of merger made by representatives of M. & B. Franklin River division, "contain certain proposals with which the union representatives do not agree and as a result, merger of the Franklin River and Sarita River divisions has not yet been completed."

DUNCAN—Cowichan District Teachers' Association has issued a rebuttal to the statement of Cowichan school board of District 65 regarding salary negotiations between the two bodies.

The teachers said they were "amazed to discover that the board had reduced the final offer given in the process of negotiation and had reverted to their original offer already rejected by the teachers' association. The trustees took an inflexible position at the meeting."

Dr. Raymond Duncan, conciliator for the teachers, said the board and the teachers were "miles apart" in their offers, and "there was no hope of bringing them together."

Each party to the dispute now will have to appoint a representative to the arbitration board. These representatives will then select a chairman or, if they fail to agree on a choice they will apply to the courts to appoint one.

B.C. Help Sought Soon

An interview with Premier W. A. C. Bennett on the prospect of receiving provincial aid in building a civic auditorium will be sought soon, Mayor Percy Scurrah said yesterday.

The Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee delegated the mayor and reeves in mid-October to see the premier, but first Mr. Bennett was away and then the mayor went to a civil defence course in the east.

Proposal to build an auditorium, financed by a uniform small tax rate in all Greater Victoria municipalities, will be discussed again when the intermunicipal committee next meets, and the provincial government's attitude could

At Millstream

Subdivision Plan Gets No Sympathy

The mayor and two reeves viewed with concern yesterday a plan for residential subdivision of about 300 acres on the Trans-Canada Highway at Millstream.

Water commissioner Ronald Upward told the Greater Victoria water board that if the plan were carried out in the next 10 year, a $30,000 main would have to be laid from the old Island Highway.

Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich said a study had indicated much more property was being subdivided around Greater Victoria than would be required. If the board extended water service to lots which wouldn't be built on, he said, "we are going to run into trouble."

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he was concerned, too, about subdivisions in the unorganized "fringe" area, where there was no control or regulation.

"If a person buys outside the city, he can't expect city services," said Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt.

COOMBS — Officers of the Coombs Drama Club were elected at a recent annual meeting. Mrs. E. Hawkes will head the group as president, with Mrs. G. Ward as vice-president and Miss Sharon Cox, secretary-treasurer.

Kwong's Touchdown Starts It Off

Tumbling into end zone with Edmonton Eskimos' first touchdown, fullback Normie Kwong sends Esks into 6-0 lead early in Wednesday night's western football final thriller in Winnipeg. Referee raises arms to signify score while Norm Rauhaus (70) of Winnipeg can do little but walk away. Edmonton's Tom Emerson (65) and Johnny Bright (84) are others identifiable. Esks won 30-7 to tie best-of-three final at one game each.—(CP Wirephoto.)

Eskimos Even Up Finals With Sharp Performance

WINNIPEG—Edmonton Eskimos, their marauding defensive line showing the way with a brilliant performance, turned the tables on Winnipeg Blue Bombers here last night to whip them, 30-7, and force a third game in the Western Interprovincial Football Union final.

Ironically enough, it was the same score by which the Eskimos were beaten in the series opener last Saturday at Edmonton, making victory that much sweeter for an Edmonton team that looked like the roughhouse Eskies of old.

Third and deciding game of the series will be played in Winnipeg Saturday at 12 noon (PST), and will be televised live over the CBC network.

MILES STAR

Veteran halfback Rollie Miles, subbing for the injured Don Flynn, sparked the Edmonton offensive with two touchdowns, both on passes from Don Getty, the Canadian who went all the way at quarterback.

Fullbacks Normie Kwong and Johnny Bright crashed over for the other Edmonton touchdowns, while Joe Mobra kicked two converts and a 12-yard field goal. Jim Letcavits booted a single to round out the Edmonton scoring.

But it was the big Edmonton line, led by Art Walker and Ed Grey, that put the damper on the vaunted Bomber backfield, much to the dismay of 16,880 fans who turned out to the park following a two-day blizzard.

The Edmonton forward wall was rushing quarterback Jim Van Pelt all night, holding the Bombers to 110 yards along the ground and 105 in the air. Van Pelt, with minor help from his backs, was able to complete only six of 28 passes, and was smeared back of the line on several other attempts.

Eskimos, who could muster little of an attack on Saturday, gave their backs plenty of time last night and rushed for 180 yards. Getty completed 12 of his 25 passes for two touchdowns and 220 yards.

Halfback Leo Lewis came up with about the only good Winnipeg play of the night, a dazzling 18-yard touchdown run in the second quarter. Charlie Shepard later kicked a single that tied the score at 7-7 going into the second half.

ONLY EIGHT PLAYS

It had taken the Eskimos only eight plays to march for Kwong's touchdown at 4:42 of the first quarter after a Bomber penalty. Mobra's convert attempt was blocked, but Letcavits kicked his single 10 minutes later.

Bombers, who didn't get out of their own territory until late in the second quarter, lost any chance they had of taking over in the first 10 minutes of the second half. Three times they penetrated into Edmonton territory, only to lose possession on two fumbles and an intercepted pass.

Mobra sent the Esks ahead, 10-7 on his field goal at 10.17 of the third quarter, and two minutes later Getty hit Miles on a pass play that carried 52 yards for a touchdown. Mobra's convert attempt was wide, but Esks led, 16-7, going into the final 15 minutes.

SHORT PASS

A sustained 51-yard drive, a short pass to Miles, and a convert by Mobra made it 23-7. After Bombers failed to click on passes from a short punt formation, Edmonton took over again and Bright got the final touchdown. Mobra converted to duplicate Saturday's score and give the Esks their first victory over the Bombers in six games this season.

'Mad' Esks Happy Now

WINNIPEG (CP)—Jubilation was brief and to the point Wednesday night in the Edmonton Eskimos' dressing room.

The Eskimos trooped in happily after trouncing Winnipeg Blue Bombers 30-7, tying the Western Interprovincial Football Union's best-of-three final at one game each. They stood in little groups shouting congratulations, slapping one another on the back and shaking hands.

Guard Art Walker, who played a charging defensive game to break up many Winnipeg plays, walked over to big Johnny Bright, the slamming fullback who carried the ball on numerous key plays.

"Great game," he shouted. "Just one more."

Other players took up the chant: "One more. Just one more."

Then Bright stood at one end of the room and hollered.

"All right. So we won the game. So let's not get all fat and happy. We've still got to beat them again.

"Let's stay mad at them."

That was the key to the victory. The Eskimos were mad, said coach Sam Lyle.

"We tackled harder, blocked harder and had more desire to win," he said.

"There's no way our team can beat Winnipeg unless we make the maximum effort. Tonight we got the maximum.

"We wanted to win more than Winnipeg. We were ready to play football and we played."

Sam Credits His Players

Lyle gave the players credit for getting themselves "up" for the game.

"A coach can help fire a team up but that usually lasts only while things are going right. But when the players get themselves ready, they can't be stopped.

Lyle said he used Canadian Don Getty at quarterback rather than triple - threat Jackie Parker for two reasons.

"He seemed to be controlling things pretty well. And besides, Parker was hurt on the first play of the game and we didn't know how long he'd be able to stay in there."

Parker said he was kicked in the ribs on the runback of the opening kickoff. It was not immediately known how serious the injury was, but Lyle said the Eskimos didn't use Parker "nearly as often as we would have liked."

SAME FIELD

The Eskimos will stay in Winnipeg until Saturday's third game. Lyle said he would try to use the same practice field as the Bombers. The Winnipeg club generally practises on a field in neighboring St. Boniface.

The protective tarpaulin was put back on the turf at Winnipeg Stadium after the game in case of further snow. The field and stands had to be cleared of more than a foot of snow Tuesday night and Wednesday for the second game.

GRANT AGREES

Blue Bomber coach Bud Grant agreed with Lyle on the reason for the sharp reversal of form from the first game, won by the Bombers by the same 30-7 score last Saturday at Edmonton.

"They played better than us. They beat us, that's all."

"They were a lot stronger defensively. I think that's the best game Walker has played against us all year."

FEW INJURIES

Grant said the Bombers picked up a few minor injuries, but he thought everyone would be ready for the third game. Fullback and punter Charlie Shepard reinjured a torn hip muscle late in the game when tackled as he threw a pass from a fake kick formation.

"We were ready to play, and with a few breaks we would have been closer. We were still in there in the third quarter, but a couple of bad plays set us back."

He said he doubted the Bombers were overconfident after beating Eskimos five straight games this year in the regular schedule and playoffs.

Cougars Rebuffed By Shore, Flyers

By JIM TANG

Victoria Cougars were rebuffed again yesterday as they continued their season-long campaign to pry Gordie Wilson loose from Eddie Shore's Springfield Indians, then indicated again last night that the smooth centre might be enough to make the difference.

Once more, the Cougars came close but when the final whistle had sounded, they had but two goals while Edmonton Flyers had four, the last one coming in the last minute, as 1,790 Memorial Arena fans waited in vain for the six-man attack to produce the tying goal.

It was the fifth straight loss for the Cougars and their sixth game without a win, and it left them sharing fourth place with Spokane, only a point ahead of New Westminster Royals, trailers in the Western Division of the Western Hockey League.

But while their record shows 10 defeats and two ties in 17 games, the Cougars have only been beaten badly three times this season. Three times they lost by one goal and the difference was two goals in four other games, two of which saw the clinching goal shot into an open net when the Cougars yanked their goalkeeper for a sixth attacker late in the game.

The Cougars also won three games by one goal and one by two. With Wilson, they might easily have been no worse than .500.

Getting Wilson, however, is another matter. Manager-coach Pat Egan thought he had Shore weakening yesterday but Shore called back last night to turn down a deal in which the Cougars offered him most of the draft price of $7,500 plus sponsorship. Shore wants players in exchange and talent is a commodity which the Victoria club hasn't got to trade away.

MINUS RIGGIN

Wilson certainly would have helped last night. The youthful Flyers, who have to depend on speed in most games, weren't skating as well as usual and they were without goalkeeper Dennis Riggin. Any kind of pressure on replacement Ed Johnson, it seemed, would have meant two points.

However, the solid Edmonton defence, which has two of the league's best-looking rookies playing alongside sound veterans in Hugh Coflin and Bud MacPherson, was enough of a difference to make up for the loss of Riggin, who will be out for some time yet with an eye injury.

FAIR SHARE

The Cougars could never get ahead although they carried a fair share of the play. They missed centre Gordie Haworth up front and Don McLeod on their defence and with three or four players not pulling their weight, did well to make it close.

Cougars play their next game here Saturday night against Vancouver Canucks and expect to have Haworth back at centre, releasing Carl Kaiser for defensive duties. McLeod should be ready for action in about 10 days.

Spokane Breaks Winless Streak

SPOKANE—Spokane Flyers snapped a seven-game winless streak here last night, downing New Westminster, 5-2, to move past the Royals into a third-place tie with Victoria Cougars in the western division of the Western Hockey League.

A crowd of 2,260 watched the Flyers snap out of their scoring doldrums, breaking open a tight game with three goals in the final period. As a result of the defeat, Royals dropped into the division basement, one point behind the Flyers and Cougars.

Flyer goals were scored by Max Mekilok, with two, Al Johnson, Walt Bradley and Ching Johnson. Gordy Fashoway and Gary Collins counted for New Westminster.

Al Johnson sent the Flyers in front at 14.01 of the first period, banging a hard shot past Don Campbell.

DROUGHT ENDS

Mekilok made it 2-0 at 7.53 of the second period, but Fashoway snapped a long personal scoring drought at 11.46 on a play with Collins to put the Royals back into contention.

However the Flyers took over in the final 20 minutes, goals by Bradley and Ching Johnson making it 4-1. Collins scored for the Royals at 19.22, but Mekilok got the goal back with just five seconds remaining in the game.

Lloyd Maxfield of Spokane and New Westminster's Fred Creighton drew major penalties for a brawl in the second period.

New Westminster—Goal: Campbell; defence: Creighton, Yanchuk, Wright, Mallette; forwards, Mckay, Lorraco, Collins, Hannigan, Maxnick, Fashoway, Jones, Barlow, Boyer.

Filchock Returns To West

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders and Frank Filchock, both one-time colorful fixtures in western Canada football, have started the long trek back to the top.

The Western Interprovincial Football Union club announced Wednesday that Filchock has been signed as 1959 backfield coach in a bid to revitalize the club's slumping fortunes.

Filchock, whose trademarks are a large cigar and a booming, jovial voice, returns to the big leagues after a year of exile in the Ontario Rugby Football Union where his Sarnia Golden Bears walked away with the league championship.

He had been fired last season by Saskatchewan Roughriders after they finished out of the playoffs despite a roster of excellent material. The management said he wasn't strict enough with the players.

Vancouver Merchants Worried

VANCOUVER (CP)—Downtown Vancouver merchants have appealed to Chief Constable George Archer for protection of their stores and customers during Grey Cup revelry later this month.

The appeal was in the form of a letter signed by president Howard Walters of the Downtown Business Association.

"We trust," said Mr. Walters, "that you will be making preparations to counteract the conditions which prevailed in the downtown area on the occasion of the 1955 Grey Cup game."

Three years ago, those celebrating the Grey Cup festivities caused considerable damage to downtown premises.

"Merchants are genuinely concerned about the problem they face in servicing and protecting their customers, and their premises, during celebrations Nov. 28 and 29," he added.

Aussie Amateur Hot

Mervyn Rose, one of Australia's outstanding amateur tennis players, said yesterday that the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia has almost forced him to become a professional.

Rose, who was suspended for not giving sufficient details about his expenses during an overseas trip this year, made his attack on the LTAA after learning his suspension won't be lifted until Jan. 31, 1959.

On that date he will be permitted to play amateur tennis if he complies with stipulations laid out by the LTAA.

Rose refused to disclose the conditions and said he would see a legal adviser about them.

"As usual, I have been made a scapegoat," he said. "If I am dealt with this way the LTAA would be justified in starting an inquiry into the expenses of about 30 other tennis tourists."

'Fans' Should Stay Home

Ah! Grey Cup

By CANADIAN PRESS

Some time, it is fervently hoped, the persons responsible for the successful organization of the Grey Cup final will take the necessary steps to curb over-exuberent fans. If they don't, they're flirting with real trouble.

Promoters of this annual sports extravaganza have been lucky so far. Only circumstances surrounding two Cup fan incidents in the last three years have got them off the hook. In both cases the fuss arose when the game result was almost a foregone conclusion.

In 1955, at Vancouver's Empire Stadium, fans pounced on the ball in the end zone after an attempted fourth-quarter Edmonton Eskimo field goal was wide of the posts. The promoters were fortunate it didn't happen earlier.

As it was, Edmonton and Montreal Alouette players watched the mad scramble and game officials eventually awarded Eskimos a point that made the score Montreal 19 Edmonton 31. It didn't have a bearing on the final score as the Eskimos won 34-19.

Last year at Toronto, and again in the fourth quarter, a fan standing on the sidelines, tripped touchdown-bound Ray (Bibbles) Bawel of Hamilton Tiger-Cats. The Big Four champions were ahead 25-0 at that point and it was a losing cause for the Bombers who eventually bowed 32-7 to coach Jim Trimble's club.

In each case the interfering fans got away with it.

The 1957 incident was the most glaring. Canadian Rugby Union officials announced days before the game that anyone interfering with play in any manner would be arrested. The CRU had off-duty police around the sidelines, yet the tripper calmly continued to watch the game for a few minutes before leaving the stadium unmolested.

The incident occurred almost directly in front of the Winnipeg bench. Bawel rushed back to the spot, grabbed the offending fan as players of both teams and a policeman milled around nearby.

No one in authority has explained yet why the fan was allowed to watch the game from the sidelines.

Darrell Popham, a former Victoria Shamrock lacrosse player, is in hospital in France suffering from injuries received in a car accident.

Popham, who played with Shamrocks in 1950 and 1951, was driving from his home to work at the RCAF base at Metz, whne his car is believed to have skidded on ice and hit a tree.

A radar control officer with the rank of Flight Lieutenant Popham was taken to the U.S. Army hospital at Lundstell, Germany, where at latest report he was still unconscious.

'No Trouble, Friend' —Representative Green

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—U.S. Representative William J. Green didn't mind going to a lot of trouble last year to get a pair of tickets to the Army-Navy football game for a friend.

But he was a little annoyed when the friend didn't show up for the game. And he was more than a little annoyed when the friend never explained.

This year, the same friend called with the same request. Green sent him the tickets last year's.

"Name the Coffee Blend" Contest Winners

Mrs. J. H. [illegible] of [illegible] Patricia Bay, S. Burnaby, left, as shown, as she accepts a cheque for $[illegible] from J. E. Malkin, representing Hiram W. Malkin Co. Ltd. Mrs. [illegible], top winner in the "Name the Blend" Contest included a contest panel with her entry qualifying her for the major prize money.

Mrs. G. Russell of 2804 West 20th Ave., Vancouver, rooster, receives a cheque for $1,000 from Mr. Malkin. Both winners sent in the name selected by the judges, but Mrs. Russell's entry did not include the contest panel specified in the rules of the "Name The Blend" Contest.

"ROOSTER" is winning name

The judges agreed that "Rooster" the name chosen for Malkin's marvellous new blend of coffee best expressed a bright new coffee to start the day in a bright new way. "It's a coffee really worth while crowing about", both prize winners agreed.

Secret of the New Blend's Superb Flavor

Malkin's modern "Thermalo Roaster" inspired the "Name The Blend" Contest. An electronic switchboard is the "brain" of this complex coffee roaster. It is a modern marvel of automation and thermostatic control guiding the coffee automatically through the various stages of the roasting process, from the automatic cleaner which removes every particle of foreign matter from the green coffee as it comes from the plantation, to its gentle roasting by super heated air to its peak of flavor. The most advanced modern equipment combined with the many year's experience and skill of Malkin's experts in creating fine coffee make this new blend truly outstanding. Your first cup of Malkin's New Blend will tell you it's the ultimate in delicious coffee — mild, flavory and full-bodied with a richness and tempting aroma that's irresistible. Try it today.

Thieves Lift Gravestone

Thieves went to a lot of trouble overnight Tuesday to hand away something they won't be able to use as long as they live—a gravestone.

The 125-pound Swedish red stone, polished on one side and valued at $85, was stolen from Victoria Monument Co., 3091 Douglas.

Three less energetic men the same night robbed Orville Seibert, 53, of his wallet in the Selkirk Hotel, Fort Street.

Parrot Owns Prized Property

What to Do About Louis?

What can a mere human do with property owned and legally by a parrot which although 100 years old now may live for another century?

Douglas Abrams of New Westminster may have found the answer at least as far as he is concerned. [illegible] prospective owner do?

Property runs from Courtney to Humboldt between Douglas and Blanshard and belonged to Miss Victoria Wilson, who died in 1949. It contains five of the best downtown lots, a turreted old home [illegible] gardens and [illegible]

Ruler of this estate is Louis, the parrot. Miss Wilson's will specified that Louis must live [illegible] days [illegible] the estate [illegible] grounds must go unchanged [illegible] his lifetime.

Efforts to clarify the situation achieved little yesterday. The parrot's mouthpiece is in England and won't be back for some months.

Mr. Abrams said there was a prospective buyer, but felt he couldn't release that person's name [illegible]. Mr. Abrams bought the estate five years [illegible] to erect a [illegible] block, but Louis [illegible] blocked that. [illegible] property went on the market again.

"How [illegible]," said Mr. Abrams. "[illegible] is a business one, not one involving a particular admiration of birds."

Most Harmful Error

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One very common cultural mistake made frequently with dwarf fruit trees, berry fruits, ornamental shrubs and roses is the excessive, deep cultivation so often carried out around these trees during the fall digging. I have often thought that more harm is done with this than any other gardening error.

Time after time friends have complained about poor growth and heavy machinery among their fruit trees, leaving the appearance of [illegible]

This kind of thing is especially common in congested areas, poorly planned gardens where a lot of [illegible] are given [illegible] to choose. Vegetables, among the [illegible] flowers and shrubs, bulbs planted in the close beds, all food and drink [illegible] deep digging, sets, stems or roots and apples, plums but not roots and what is left [illegible]

I have seen parts of backyard roses with hardly a root left on them. Gardeners owners were surprised and dismayed that the roses died or [illegible]

Manure or compost are extremely valuable in these parts, more so in some than in others, but there is no need to dig it in. Spread it on the surface between and around the plants for as this work the roots will spread [illegible] the surface where they are happiest. [illegible]

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

(a) One spade. You must be a little right "on a free bid but the five-card spade suit plus support for partner's suit strongly suggests action.

(b) Pass. You would be doing fine opening by bidding freely with such a weak hand.

(c) Double. Your great strength in the opponents' suit, valuable and shortage in partner's suit are almost sacred for this action. If partner has spade length, opponents may not be able to come up for air.

(d) Pass. Your whole hand is hearts, the opponents are far more likely to find their right spot either spades or no-trump if you take positive action. You are just not strong enough to double yet.

(e) Two no-trump. The perfect hand for the recommended bid, though if you are vulnerable against a vulnerable opponents a double might prove more profitable.

(f) One spade. You will raise diamonds on the next round if you do so immediately you may easily miss a four-four fit in spades.

It takes more than love to be a good wife

After a hard day of being cook, family chauffeur, accountant, nurse, and peace-maker, among other things —a wife must also be a gay companion. Take the young couple above, for instance. Do you fit into this picture? Or do you both feel too worn out at night to share the day's happenings? If this is the case, chances are you just aren't getting the right type of sleep. It's a wise wife who discovers the beneficial sleep-inducing qualities of Ovaltine! Not only does Ovaltine help relieve nervous tension—it also supplies important food elements to help rebuild body cells, while you sleep. And this delicious beverage contains many of the more important vitamins and minerals. Start tonight—and get the Ovaltine habit!

ENERGY UNLIMITED ...
because Burgerbits
is their kind of dog food!

And, penny for penny, Burgerbits gives them TWICE the nourishment of prime beef hamburger . . . at only HALF the cost to you!

Just look at all the food value your dog gets with this complete, nutritionally balanced diet! Compared to prime beef hamburger, Burgerbits gives your pet

TWICE the vitamins—
B, B, and Niacin . . . plus 3000 I.U. of Vitamin A and 1000 I.U. of Vitamin D per lb. not found in hamburger.

TWICE the phosphorus and iron—essential for building strong, healthy bones and teeth and for maintaining good red blood

TWICE the proteins—
an essential in maintaining consistently healthy growth and in insuring the constant rebuilding of vital body [illegible].

So easy to prepare—just mix with water, soup or milk! And Burgerbits actually conditions as it nourishes—for, besides providing a ready source of food energy, it conditions the system without scouring or binding. Buy Burgerbits today at your favourite food store or pet shop.

Your dog deserves the best...

AN EXTENSION PHONE!
Just about the nicest gift any husband ever thought of

And just about the nicest gift any wife or family ever received. It's different, exciting and its pleasure increases every day. And it's so easy to give an extension phone. You can pick up a gift boxed phone at the Telephone Company, already to put under the tree. Or, for Christmas secrecy, have it delivered to your office. The extension phone will be installed free of charge, shortly after Christmas. And here's the best part—it costs only $1.20 a month, even less in some communities. You may prepay, or have it added monthly to your own telephone bill. To give a glamorous color phone, there's a moderate additional charge—but you pay this only once.

'Untainted by Sommers'

No Crooks in Ranks Of Socreds—Gaglardi

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Highways Minister Gaglardi said Tuesday night there are no crooks in the Social Credit government.

"This government has not been tainted by either Sommers or Briggs and there are no crooks in it," he told a dinner meeting of the New Westminster Chamber of Commerce.

"I know there is no need for an election because no one but a couple of men in newspapers have asked for one," he said.

Concerning H. Lee Briggs' attack on the government while he was chief of the B.C. Power Commission, Mr. Gaglardi said:

"Because of this apparent smear I can tell there is something wrong somewhere. Something smells bad. But I have every confidence in the statements of Mr. Fisher (J. V. Fisher, government financial adviser) that Mr. Briggs is dead wrong."

Murder Suspect Hires Lawyer, 79

GOSHEN, N.Y. (UPI)—A 79-year-old attorney who figured in one of the century's most notorious murder cases confers in the Orange County Jail today with his newest client, industrialist Malcolm White, charged with killing a union organizer who was leading a strike against his plant.

Henry Hirschberg of Newburgh, for many years district attorney of Orange County, will defend White against murder charges arising from his acknowledged shooting last week of Al

Congress Freshmen Told:

Taking Typewriters Frowned Upon By U.S. Government

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Houseclerk Ralph B. Roberts told new members of Congress yesterday that carrying away the government's typewriters would not be considered good form.

He informed the new members they were welcome to use the typewriters . . . but make sure they're still in the office when the session ends.

Roberts put out his regular election-year booklet covering this and other matters of vital interest and mailed it to 82 members elected to the House for the first time on Nov. 4.

It covers such things as free mail and free stationery, which are available to the members-elect at once; free telephone and telegraph service and the congressional pay, which is $22,500 a year.

In his "How To" book he said they could have all the office equipment they wanted, including automatic typewriters, provided the bill did not exceed $2,500. But he said the machines would be counted after the session.

Roberts told the new members they could put eight clerks (and in the bigger districts nine) on the government payroll at annual salaries up to $13,344.62.

CPA to Fly Big 'Brain' To Japan

VANCOUVER—An electronic brain weighing nine tons will be flown 4,752 miles across the Pacific next week aboard Canadian Pacific Airlines' first cargo-liner flight from Canada to the Orient.

Eight data-processing units making up the brain, built in Toronto, start their 7,000-mile journey by rail this week. Their ultimate destination is the Sanwa Bank in Tokyo.

The machines will be loaded at Vancouver into one of the airline's new air freighters Nov. 26. They will make a near capacity load for the aircraft over a flight of this distance.

First Find Your Octopus, then—

Let Prey Catch Hunter!

VANCOUVER (CP)—The secret of successful octopus-hunting is to allow the prey to catch the hunter, says Len Erlandsen, skin-diver, who has had considerable experience in the sport.

"The idea is to float over the octopus until it comes up and grabs you," he said. "After that it is just a matter of surfacing and getting untangled."

Erlandsen and three other divers recently caught two 50-pounders in about 65 feet of water. One was given to Vancouver Aquarium and the other was cooked for dinner.

"After three hours in the pot it's just like cod."

Syria Accuses Turks

DAMASCUS (UPI)—Damascus radio charged Wednesday that three Turkish jet planes violated Syrian air space last Sunday. The broadcast charged the Turkish planes flew low over a Syrian border village in an attempt to scare citizens.

Menzies Election Favorite

CANBERRA (CP) — Five million Australian voters elect a new government Saturday and most of the political experts predict another term of office for the Liberal-Country Party coalition led by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies.

But more and more people are saying that the Labor Party, led by Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt, has a chance. Evatt has promised more family benefits and some tax concessions — among these making all fares to and from work an income tax deduction.

101 Degrees, and Rising

Warm Water Well

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP) — Hot water's no problem on the farm operated by Chalmer Lovdahl.

In August, a 30-foot well that supplies Lovdahl's house with running water turned warm. The water temperature kept rising. Last week it reached 101 degrees.

Lovdahl called in University of Illinois researchers. They said it was the first time they'd come on the phenomenon in Illinois. A state water survey chemist theorized that vein of coal beneath the well had caught fire, radiating heat toward the surface.

But there's one obvious leak in the theory.

There is a well just 120 feet away. It is 125 feet deep and its output hasn't varied from a normal 55 degrees.

Letters Fight Shift

Victoria Automobile Club has begun its fight to keep the licensing section of the Motor Vehicles Branch in Victoria.

Letters opposing the move have been sent to Premier Bennett, Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and all lower-Island MLAs.

A brief asking that the section be moved to Vancouver was presented to the provincial cabinet last week by the B.C. Automobile Association.

Victoria Automobile Club has written to ask support from Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Island boards of trade, and the Victoria Automobile Dealers' Association.

Canadian Army Gets a New Unit

CAMP PETAWAWA, Ont. (CP) — The 1st Fort Garry Horse, Fourth Armored Regiment in the Canadian army, was formed here Wednesday at an impressive military ceremony.

Defence Minister Pearkes officiated at the birth of the new military unit which bears the name of one of Canada's most famous militia regiments. He was accompanied by Trade Minister Churchill who served with the Fort Garry Horse during the Second World War.

The unit will be permanently based at this big army camp on the Ottawa River about 90 miles west of Ottawa. Its first commander is Lt.-Col. James Charlton Gardner, 38, of Ottawa and Regina.

Mr. Pearkes said it was fitting that the ceremony was held one day before the Nov. 20 anniversary of the Battle of Cambrai, in which the Fort Garry Horse in 1917 fought its most distinguished action.
